Minnesota School Trust Lands Approximately 261,426 acres of state school trust lands overlie the Duluth Complex outside the Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness. While state lands are excluded from the proposed federal mineral withdrawal, a small percentage of school trust lands are "enclosed" by federal lands included in the proposed withdrawal, or else are bounded by the BWCAW. Totaling 2.9% of the school trust lands overlying the Duluth Complex, or 7,610 acres, enclosed school trust lands may present additional challenges to mineral leasing. The remaining 97.1%, or 253,817 acres, of school trust lands overlying the Duluth Complex would remain accessible to mineral leasing. Boundary Waters Canoe Area Tower Babbitt Lake Superior School Trust Lands Overlying the Duluth Complex Total: 261,426 acres (Outside the BWCAW) Enclosed by Federal Withdrawal Lands: 7,610 acres (2.9%) Not Enclosed by Federal Withdrawal Lands: 253,817 acres (97.1%) Duluth Complex - Approximate Proposed Federal Mineral Withdrawal Boundary Federal Lands Proposed for Withdrawal Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness Superior National Forest Created by: Jeff Disbrow, Northeastern Minnesotans for Wilderness Date: February 14, 2018 Data Sources: Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, US Forest Service, Natural Resources Canada